Context for Delivery: Re-offending by children and young people within County Durham has adverse effects upon our communities. It increases the fear of crime and impacts upon the choices we make on a daily basis. Breaking the cycle of offending by ensuring that young people have their needs met (for example, being engaged in education, training and employment, having suitable accommodation and substance misuse or mental health issues, ensures that all our children and young people are best placed to live fulfilling and positive lives.
